

Convenient, Fast and Cost-Effective Document Delivery

In today's fast-paced world, delivering timely documents to the right people can pose a challenge. Even today's fastest laser printer cannot send important loan and deposit documents to people who are not connected to your network. You may need to send a disclosure to a customer at home, work with your attorney to review the documentation on a large commercial transaction, or help the title company arrange for signatures on real estate loan closing documents. E-Print Connect™ accommodates these needs and takes your document delivery to a new level, letting you send your LaserPro® and DepositPro® documents by email no matter where your customer, branch or business partner is located.

Flexible File Formats

E-Print Connect supports the Adobe® Portable Document Format (PDF), the universal language of electronic transactions. With E-Print Connect, the recipient can preview PDF documents in the free Adobe® Reader® before printing them. PDFs are easy to save and recall, and can be printed on virtually any printer.

E-Print Connect also supports PCL5, the Printer Control Language used by most printers. PCL is what many systems use for unattended high-performance and high-quality business document printing, and is supported for LaserPro and DepositPro. E-Print Connect puts the PCL for LaserPro and DepositPro documents into a compressed, self-extracting file that the recipient can easily print.

Key Features

- Works with LaserPro and DepositPro
- Emails or saves documents from within the transaction flow
- All fonts are included in the documents generated using E-Print Connect
- Multiple file formats supported, including PDF
- 128-bit encryption supported for all file formats
- Documents created are read-only
- Customizable password settings enhance document security

The Safe and Speedy Way to Book Business Faster

E-Print Connect can accomplish in seconds what a courier can do in a day. The result is business booked sooner, conducted more easily and usually at a dramatically reduced cost.

The system protects the confidentiality of the documents by using 128-bit encryption. This ensures you have a secure transmission from the sender to the intended receiver. You can assign passwords to enable access only by the intended recipients at an individual site. For example:

- Global passwords can be assigned for trusted groups, such as your branches
- Specific passwords can be assigned to a single document set, or even a single document

The documents transmitted are read-only; they cannot be edited or modified.

Documents can also be saved to file for use with non-MAPI-compliant email systems or other delivery methods.

Integrated with LaserPro and DepositPro

E-Print Connect is a document delivery option available in both LaserPro and DepositPro. The installation and setup of E-Print Connect are incorporated into General System Setup for both products to enhance administrator control of the file formats and password settings. E-Print Connect operates directly from the document selection window as a seamless part of processing a transaction. Using E-Print Connect to transmit documents from within LaserPro or DepositPro is easy. Simply select the documents you want to transmit, pick a destination, choose the file format and send them on their way. You can email or save documents without exiting the transaction.

Internet and Paperless Transactions Are One Step Closer

E-Print Connect makes it easier than ever to complete transactions initiated over the telephone or over the Web because you eliminate some paper handling. Think of how easy it will be to supply Early Home Equity, Truth-in-Savings and Privacy disclosures without the need for your customers to come into the branch. Also consider the effort, postage, printing and handling costs you save when you use electronic documents rather than paper ones. You deliver professional service faster and at a significantly lower cost. It is the kind of service you have come to expect and get from D+H, and from using LaserPro and DepositPro.
